What our Partners say

A partnership that delivers impact

Our corporate partners don't just support our work – they become part of a growing community creating meaningful change for young people and the wider community

" Volunteering at Amelia Trust Farm gave our team a meaningful, hands-on way to give back. Supporting such an important local charity was a genuinely rewarding experience for everyone involved. "

REINVIGORATION, Leading Operations Transformation Consultancy
Leanne Gainford – Head of People

" A brilliant team-building day with real purpose. Our team loved contributing to the Farm's incredible work while strengthening connections and giving back to the community. "

ISON TRAVEL – Kerry Jenkins – Relations Manager

" Working with Amelia Trust Farm allowed our team to make a tangible difference while learning more about the vital support they provide to young people and nature. "

Why your support matters

Every young person deserves time, space and the right environment to belong, rebuild confidence and move towards a brighter future.

At Amelia Trust Farm, we support young people in Wales who are facing challenges with mental health, school engagement or life circumstances. Through therapeutic education, working with animals, access to the natural environment and positive relationships, we offer the breathing space and support needed for a fresh start.

Why businesses can help

Corporate partners play a vital role in ensuring young people have the opportunity to heal, learn new skills and believe in themselves again. Together, we can create lasting change in our community.

Ways your business can support

We offer flexible partnership opportunities so you can support in a way that aligns with your values, aspirations and budget — with real impact you can see and align with your Corporate Social Responsibility goals.
